“CALL FOR TECHNICAL SESSION PAPERS” DEADLINE TO JUNE 30th
Leading Conference on Consumer Communications & Networking to be Held January 9 – 12, 2010 in Las Vegas

NEW YORK, NY (June 2, 2009) – The 8th Annual IEEE Consumer Communications and Networking Conference (CCNC) to be held January 9 – 12, 2011 at the Planet Hollywood in Las Vegas, Nevada has extended the “Call for Technical Session Papers” deadline to June 30th.

Held concurrently with the Consumer Electronics Show (CES) and hosted by the IEEE Communications Society (IEEE ComSoc), IEEE CCNC 2011 was organized specifically to help the consumer electronics industry drive the advance of the numerous wireless and wireline communications technologies that will one day provide on-demand access to entertainment and business information anytime, anywhere, regardless of time or location. This includes detailed analyses of nearly every technical area ranging from cognitive and peer-to-peer networking to the designer services and tools used to ensure ease-of-use, security and interactivity.

All industry professionals interested in presenting unpublished technical session papers at IEEE CCNC 2011 are urged to visit www.ieee-ccnc.org/2011 for conference details and “Call for Paper” guidelines. Due to conference planners by June 30, 2010, technical paper submissions will be considered from within six technical tracks including:

- Wireless Consumer Communications and Networking
- Smart Spaces and Personal Area Networks
- Multimedia & Entertainment Networking & Services
- Peer-to-Peer Networking & Content Distribution
- Emerging & Innovative Consumer Technologies & Applications
- Security & Content Protection

In addition to its technical session agenda, IEEE CCNC 2011 will also host hundreds of special sessions, business, workshops, tutorials, demonstrations and work-in-progress presentations dedicated to the latest advances and technical solutions related to home and consumer networking, enabling technologies and novel applications. Anyone interested in submitting papers in any of these areas are also invited to view additional submission details for each section at www.ieee-ccnc.org/2011.
